HOST

TALENT BIOS

Jack Mitrani (@JackMitrani)

Jack Mitrani is one of snowboarding's most popular personalities. After spending 12 years as a competitive snowboarder, he translated his talents into a career that celebrates his entrepreneurial and vivacious spirit. Mitrani returns for this sixth year as host of the X Games.

Early in Mitrani's career, he got his start by producing gut-busting comedic skits, and has since refined professional action sports footage that broadcast greats such as ESPN, HBO and NBC have chased down through the years. In 2008, Mitrani and friends Danny Davis, Dave Driscoll and Keir Dillon started the Friends Crew, all centering around the concept that "there's no I in frends." Initially, the crew consisted of seven pro-snowboarders who traveled the world, making funny videos and skits, while winning major snowboarding contests, and promoting that collaboration was more fun than doing it solo. Today he is best known as a television host — most notably serving as the host of X Games — Frendly Gathering cofounder, content creator and Martin Guitar Ambassador.

Born and raised in Long Island, Mitrani's family moved to Vermont after he and brother/pro snowboarder Luke convinced their parents to allow them to attend Stratton Mountain School, where snowboarding was a part of the curriculum. Mitrani currently resides in Burlington, Vt. with his wife Hannah and their daughter, Willa Rose.

COMMENTATORS/ANALYSTS

Brandon Graham (@Brandon_Graham) – Skateboard

Brandon Graham once again will provide play-by-play commentary for all Skateboard events. The Bay Area native has been a part of the X Games team since 2013, handling skateboard play-by-play for the summer events as well as broadcast duties for the World of X Games series on ABC. Graham previously served as the play-by-play voice of Rob Dyrdek's Street League Skateboarding. He currently resides in Austin, Texas, with his wife Nadia and their two children, Sofia and Bowen.

Jimmy Coleman (@jcnomad13) – BMX & Moto X

TV personality Jimmy Coleman has been skateboarding since the age of eight. It was skating that would help start his career as an announcer back in 1993, but by 1997 it became a full-time opportunity. Over the last two decades, he has hosted numerous action sports events and demonstrations all across the globe, as well as some mainstream sporting events. Coleman has had the opportunity to watch and work with many of the biggest names in the industry. Coleman first joined the X Games broadcast team in 2000 at X Games Six in San Francisco, Calif. For the last 18 years he has acted as the play-by-play commentator for all X Games BMX events.

Gary Rodgers (@gcode_tb4l) – Skateboard Street & Street Best Trick

Rodgers made his X Games telecast team debut in 2017 and will again provide analysis for the Men's Skateboard Street competitions. Beginning his on-air career with a satirical online skateboarding news program called Skateline, Rodgers is an uber fan of skateboarding who offers unapologetic commentary in the space. Skateline was quickly picked up by Tony Hawk's Ride Channel who funded and distributed the show for several years until it moved to Thrasher Magazine's site where it streams currently.

Chris Doyle (@Chris_Doyle22) – BMX

A professional BMX athlete for 19 years, Chris Doyle is a five-time X Games medalist. A trail rider by trade, Doyle medaled in Dirt at X Games for four straight years from 2002-2005. He won his fifth medal in 2015 after a 10-year gap. He also holds the distinction of being named the 2010 NORA Cup Dirt Jumper of the Year. Recently moving his talents to the broadcast booth, Doyle has provided on-air commentary for Dew Tour and Simple Session events, as well as hosting ESPN's Real BMX show on ABC.

TALENT BIOS

Amelia Brodka (@ameliabrodka) – Women's Skateboard

Born in Poland, Amelia Brodka began skateboarding after her family emigrated to New Jersey in 1996, when Brodka was 7 years old. She turned pro in 2009, while simultaneously earning a bachelor's degree from USC. Her senior thesis and directorial debut – Underexposed: A Women's Skateboarding Documentary – aimed to shine a light on gender disparities within skateboarding. In 2012, Brodka founded Exposure Skate Organization, a non-profit dedicated to empowering women through skateboarding. Her skateboarding earned her a pro model with Arbor Skateboards and a spot on Team Visa. Brodka is a two-time X Games competitor and represented Poland at the Tokyo 2020 Olympics, finishing in 17th place. Brodka and husband Alec Beck currently reside in Vista, California.

Renton Millar (@rentonmillar) – Skateboard Vert, Vert Best Trick & MegaPark

A former World Cup Vert champion and four-time Australian bowl and Vert champion, Renton Millar's skateboarding career has spanned more than 30 years. Traveling the world as a pro skater from 1998-2013, which included three X Games appearances, Millar then founded Australia's premier skate competition series, King of Concrete. He's a long-time coach at Woodward Pennsylvania and frequent skateboard contest judge; he's judged several X Games in addition to the Tokyo 2020 Olympics. The Chairman of the Australian Skateboarding Federation, Millar has announced the Bondi Bowlarama and X Games Sydney in recent years. Millar and wife Chelsie have two children, Max and Bonnie.

Blake 'Bilko' Williams (@BilkoFMX) – Moto X

A Baxter-native, Australian FMX rider Blake 'Bilko' Williams started his X Games career with a bang, earning a bronze medal in his X Games debut in 2006. The first person ever to land a cliffhanger backflip, Bilko commanded the attention from established riders and sponsors alike. Just three years later, he earned Freestyle gold and Best Trick silver, becoming the first international rider to win X Games Freestyle gold. A six-time X Games medalist, Bilko was also Transworld Motocross' FMX Rider of the Year in 2009. Bilko will serve as an analyst for all Moto X disciplines.

REPORTER

Victoria Arlen (@Arlenv1)

Paralympian gold medalist Victoria Arlen joined ESPN in December 2015 as a features reporter and now works as a host and reporter. Hired at the age of 21, she became one of ESPN's youngest regular reporters ever. Since then, in addition to reporting from the 2017 Special Olympics World Winter Games, she has reported and hosted from the X Games and Invictus Games, done features and updates for SportsCenter and reported for ESPNW. She also has appeared on College GameDay and the SEC Network's coverage of NCAA swimming and diving.

At 11 years old, she was diagnosed with two rare conditions: Transverse Myelitis and Acute Disseminated Encephalomyelitis. Fighting for her life, Arlen persevered through four years of being in a vegetative state and shortly after, began the near-impossible journey to relearn everyday tasks and functions. But recover she did – when she joined ESPN, she was in a wheelchair – in the Spring of 2017, she celebrated the one-year anniversary of regaining her ability to walk.

During her recovery, she became an accomplished motivational speaker, actress, model and competitive swimmer. In early 2012, Arlen qualified to compete in the 2012 London Paralympic Games, winning a gold medal in the 100-meter freestyle event in a new world record time along with three silver medals in the 50-meter, 400-meter and the 4x100-meter freestyle relay. In addition, Arlen has also broken several other World, American and Pan American Records.

TV TECHNOLOGY FACT SHEET

ESPN will again work with Echo Entertainment, a leading live action sports production company, to produce X Games 2022. They'll collaborate to deliver an authentic and enhanced representation of the action sports community from both a sports and lifestyle perspective.

Over the four days of X Games coverage, live content will focus on action sports competitions, in-depth athlete profiles and other features highlighting the action sports lifestyle.

PRODUCTION & TECHNOLOGY ELEMENTS

Throughout the coverage, X Games will leverage its array of innovative technologies and production elements to bring fans truly distinctive coverage of the very best in action sports. Among the production and technology elements are:

Mobile units: This year at X Games, we will utilize three production truck setups with over 75 unique camera positions across the 11 different courses.

Cameras: This year's camera complement includes a jib, 10 super slow motion camera positions, various unmanned POV cameras and RF cameras.

AUDIO/COMMS

X Games will be telecast in discrete 5.1 surround sound, and will feature 55 individual microphones to capture the various sounds around the venue. The microphones are all interconnected through a variety of transport mediums, including Andiamo MAD1 and Calrec Hydra. The worldwide distribution will encompass a multitude of isolated audio channels to augment the domestic and international broadcasts.

TECHNOLOGY

Height Technology

Viewers will be presented with graphic inserts that display the height of each jump, live and during replays. This technology is powered by RawMotion team.

Cable Cam

Condor Cam returns to X Games. Condor Cam is a point to point camera system. They will be setting up two of their systems at the BMX venue covering BMX dirt and park Courses. Each run is around 300 feet long.

Drones

The Moto X coverage will include two drone cameras for live coverage and super slow motion replays. Drone camera one will be a "heavy lift" drone with a Sony P1 camera. This will be for traditional aerial coverage similar to the Condorcam on the BMX venue. Drone two will be an FPV drone with a Dream Chip high speed camera. The FPV will track riders like the FollowCams in Winter X Games Slopestyle and Big Air events, taking the viewers up and over the jumps. This will be used live and as super slow motion replays using the 300fps the camera will be shooting.

Super Slow Motion – Sony HDC-4300

Four Sony 4300s, the first camera to use three 2/3" 4K sensors, will be used at each event to capture high speed HD images up to 8x the normal frame rate.

RF/WIRELESS

RF Cameras

Two RF cameras, to include one hand held and one FollowCam will be used at the Skateboard venue. AVS, out of the LA area, will be managing both of these camera systems as well as the Drone live coverage at the Moto X venues. In addition, 15 wireless microphones will be used throughout the Skateboard courses allowing the viewer to hear the action from every corner of every course. The RF mics and IFBs are being used as well at all 3 venues to allow our talent the freedom to move freely without limitation.

Follow Cameras

Small cameras which are attached to engineered rigs and used by cameramen on skateboards, will provide a unique moving shot from right behind each athlete in Park and Street. These RF cameras provide dynamic tracking shots of the athletes as they compete.

SPORT DESCRIPTIONS

BMX DIRT – 10 Riders

The Dirt competition features ten BMX athletes who compete on a four-jump downhill course with huge gaps. The course is complex and offers a variety of jump and landing sizes, berms and gaps ranging from 17 to 25 feet. In this Final-only format, riders have a 36-minute jam session to complete as many runs as possible, with their best score counting towards final ranking. Riders are judged on a combination score of tricks completed over the jumps and tricks executed. This competition is judged on amplitude, creativity, style, volume of maneuvers and flow of run.

SPORT DESCRIPTIONS

BEST TRICK – 8 Riders

The Best Trick competition allows FMX riders the chance to land the best trick in their arsenal for X Games gold. In this Final-only format, eight riders will have two attempts to land their best trick. Riders are judged on the overall difficulty and execution of their trick. The greater score of the two jumps is their final score.

Competition Format	Athletes	Runs	Score
Final	8	2 runs per athlete	Best score per rider

MONSTER ENERGY FREESTYLE – 8 Riders

Moto X Freestyle will feature eight riders linking their best freestyle tricks in a 75-second run. In the Final-only format, riders tackle a complex dirt course made up of a variety of different jumps and quarterpipes– some dirt, some metal – which challenge overall riding skills while integrating tricks throughout their overall run. Scoring is based on overall impression, tricks, execution, style, use of the course and landings.

Competition Format	Athletes	Runs	Score
Final	8	2 runs per athlete	Best score per rider

QUARTERPIPE HIGH AIR – 6 Riders

QuarterPipe High Air is the newest FMX discipline that utilizes a metal freestyle ramp take-off set side by side with a dirt landing. Riders take off and re-enter on the same wall in an attempt to get the maximum possible height. In this Final-only format, each of the six riders take as many jumps as possible within the 15-minute jam session to achieve their highest jump.

SHRED HATE

SHRED HATE, CHOOSE KINDNESS

One out of every five students is bullied in the United States, according to the National Center for Educational Statistics. We know that sports can be both a cause and a refuge from bullying, which is why in 2017, ESPN and X Games launched Shred Hate, Choose Kindness in an effort to ignite student compassion to eradicate bullying and cyberbullying. Together with Major League Baseball and the nonprofit organization No Bully, we've provided 120,000 students and 13,000 educators with resources to put a stop to hate. In addition to directly impacting students, we spread messages of empathy and kindness throughout our baseball and X Games coverage.

ATHLETES TO WATCH

BMX

DIRT & MEGAPARK

Andy Buckworth (Lake Haven, New South Wales, Australia)

Enjoying immediate success with a BMX Big Air bronze medal in his rookie X Games appearance, Andy Buckworth added his first X Games gold in last year's Dirt Best Trick competition. The first rider to land a double frontflip Superman combo and double frontflip no-hander, Buckworth has ridden as part of the Nitro Circus Tour since their first year in 2010. Recently, he has been dominating the BMX Triple Challenge events, earning a second and third place finish in 2019. In 2022, Buckworth won the Best Trick and finished second place in the Dirt competition at the first stop in Anaheim and finished fourth overall in the series. Buckworth has a backyard ramp setup that he and fellow Park riders practice on regularly.

DIRT, PARK & STREET

Kevin Peraza (Tucson, Arizona)

One of the most charismatic BMX riders in the world, Peraza excels at Park, Street and Dirt riding. He is the first BMX rider to compete in all three disciplines at the same X Games. Peraza earned his first X Games gold medal in 2016, and he followed up with a Park win in 2017. Peraza returned to the top of the podium last year with X Games 2021 Park gold. Peraza comes from a BMX family – his dad is a former BMX racer, and all three of his brothers compete.

SKATEBOARD

WOMEN'S PARK

Sky Brown (Miyazaki, Japan)

Skating since she was two years old, Sky Brown quickly became a viral phenomenon when video of her and brother Ocean gained millions of views on YouTube. Turning pro at just 10 years old, she became the youngest pro skateboarder in the world. Making her X Games debut in 2019, Sky finished off the podium, but made history becoming the first woman to land a frontside 540. Sky is also a professional surfer and the winner of the inaugural Dancing with the Stars: Juniors. In addition, she released her first single in 2020 called "Girl." In May 2021, Brown took home a second place finish at the Dew Tour en route to becoming the youngest Olympian ever to represent Great Britain when she earned a bronze medal in the Women's Skateboard Park Olympic competition in Tokyo. Brown returns to X Games 2022 as the defending Women's skateboard Park gold medalist after earning her first gold in 2021.

ATHLETES TO WATCH

PACIFICO VERT & VERT BEST TRICK

Elliot Sloan (New York City, New York, USA)

Two-time defending X Games Big Air gold medalist Elliot Sloan now owns 13 X Games medals in 16 appearances. The second-most medaled Skateboard Big Air athlete, Sloan began skateboarding at eight years old. An equally avid musician, Sloan has a Vert ramp, Mega Ramp and recording studio in his backyard. Known for mixing the two, Sloan landed a 360 on the Megaramp with a guitar in his hand. He also hosts The Highlands, showcasing the best Vert riding and electronic artists from his backyard. At X Games 2021, Sloan added silver medals in both Vert and Vert Best Trick.

MOTO X

QUARTERPIPE HIGH AIR, 110S, BEST WHIP & MONSTER ENERGY FREESTYLE

Axell Hodges (Encinitas, California, USA)

Hodges owns seven X Games medals (two gold, three silver, two bronze) and has competed in Snow BikeCross and Snow Bike Best Trick at X Games Aspen, too. His very own "Slayground" plays host to this year's Moto X competitions, including the three he will compete in himself. Incredibly talented and with a creative eye and playful streak, Axell is of the most popular action sports athletes in the world, with more than 1.2M Instagram followers.

FREESTYLE & MONSTER ENERGY BEST TRICK

Rob Adelberg (Benalla, Victoria, Australia)

Adelberg has been on fire since earning his first X Games gold in Aspen 2018 Snow Bike Best Trick. He's earned 13 medals in 15 X Games appearances, including X Games 2021 Best Trick gold and Freestyle bronze. Adelberg is the first athlete to collect five medals in a calendar year when he did so in 2018. His nine X Games medals from Aspen 2018 through Norway 2019 are the most by any athlete in a two-year span at X Games.

TIM REED

Vice President, Programming and Acquisitions

Tim Reed is a vice president of programming and acquisitions, leading both the professional football and X Games categories. He assumed his current role in May 2021 following the landmark long-term agreement between The Walt Disney Company, ESPN and the National Football League. Most recently, Reed played a key role in the acquisition of the XFL rights.

Tim Reed oversees the creative development and day-to-day operation of the X Games franchise. This includes the programming, production and distribution of X Games content – both for X Games events and year-round World of X Games programming, oversight of digital and social content and direction of X Games events.

In his current role, Reed led the development and integration of youth lifestyle elements into X Games events including music, film, photography and art experiences created to serve the youth action sports audience. Reed also launched the World of X Games content series on ABC seven years ago.

Reed was also responsible for overseeing the addition of an X Games Norway event in 2016, which was held annually for five years, introducing the first-ever X Games event in Australia with X Games Sydney in 2018 and bringing X Games back to China in 2019 with X Games Shanghai. Most recently, Reed led an agreement to bring the X Games to Japan for the first time with X Games Chiba in April of 2022.

In 1997, Reed started his career at ESPN as a sports & competition intern. He worked a variety of sports, operations and content development positions. Throughout his career, Reed has been integral to the planning and execution of over 50 X Games events around the world.

A graduate of Yale University, Reed earned a Bachelor of Arts degree in History.

X GAMES FACTS AND FEATS

1995 The inaugural Extreme Games took place in Providence, R.I. with the following competitions:

- Bungee Jumping
- Eco Challenge
- In-Line Skating
- Skateboard
- Sky Surfing
- Sport Climbing
- Street Luge
- Biking
- Watersports

1997 Extreme Games changed its name to X Games and moved to the west coast for the first time – hosted by San Diego, Calif.

1999 The X Games moved north to San Francisco, Calif. After attempting the trick for 10 years, Tony Hawk landed the first-ever 900 in Skateboard Best Trick. Moto X made its debut in 1999 and phenom Travis Pastrana was awarded a near-perfect score of 99.0 in Moto X Freestyle.

2000 Moto X Step Up made its first appearance. Dave Mirra became the first BMX athlete to land a double backflip at the X Games.

2001 X Games Seven headed back east to Philadelphia, Penn., where the event hit a major milestone – a first-time indoor venue at the First Union Center. This was the first time X Games took place inside and outside an arena. Moto X Best Trick made its debut.

2002 Mike Metzger made X Games and Moto X history with his back-to-back backflips. Mat Hoffman landed the first no-handed 900 in Vert.

2003 X Games made its third move, this time back to California and landed in Los Angeles with an unprecedented contract lasting through 2009. Becoming the youngest ever X

Games gold medalist, Ryan Sheckler landed all of his tricks and won Skateboard Park at just 13 years old.

2004 In Moto X Best Trick, Chuck Carothers successfully landed his body varial, the “Carolla,” to win gold. SuperMoto and Skateboard Big Air made their X Games debut.

2006 Travis Pastrana landed the first-ever double backflip in competition. Rally Car Racing made its debut, and Pastrana captured the first gold with his co-driver Christian Edstrom. Freestyle was Pastrana’s third gold of the 2006 X Games, making him just the third person in X Games history to score three gold medals at a single X Games event. BMX Big Air made its debut.

2007 Moto X Best Trick unveiled a new winner and a new trick – “The Volt.” Kyle Loza became the first X Games rookie to take Moto X Best Trick gold with his body varial.

2008 BMX Freestyle Street, Moto X Speed & Style, Women’s Moto X Racing, BMX Freestyle and Skateboard SuperPark were added to X Games for the first time

X GAMES FACTS AND FEATS

2009 With his win in Moto X SuperMoto, Ivan Lazzarini became the first European to win a gold medal in any X Games Moto X competition. Blake “Bilko” Williams became the first international and the first Australian Moto X Freestyle gold medalist. Ashley Fiolek became the first profoundly deaf athlete to win any medal at X Games when she earned the top spot in Women’s Moto X Super X in her debut at the X Games.

2010 For the first time ever, X Games 16 broadcasted nine hours of competition live in 3D on ESPN3D. Skateboard Real Street and Game of SK8 made their debut. In the Rally Car competition, Tanner Foust showed his dominance by winning both the Rally Car Racing final and the inaugural Rally Car Super Rally final.

2011 Matt Buyten set an X Games and world record, winning Moto X Step Up by clearing a height of 37 feet. Jackson Strong set a record by landing the first-ever front flip during the Moto X Best Trick final. In the debut of Moto X Enduro X, Maria Forsberg and Taddy Blazusiak took home the first-ever Enduro X gold medals.

2012 Jamie Bestwick completed the second six-peat in X Games history, winning BMX Freestyle Vert gold by 14 points – the largest margin of victory in BMX Vert history. Garrett Reynolds earned the fourth five-peat in X Games history in BMX Freestyle Street, and remains as the only athlete ever to win the competition at X Games. Skateboard Big Air athlete Jagger Eaton became the youngest athlete in X Games history to compete at 11 years, four months old.

2013 X Games adds three new event locations – Foz do Iguaçu, Brazil; Barcelona, Spain and Munich, Germany – to the schedule.

Foz do Iguaçu: Surprise winner Kyle Baldock earned two gold medals in one day, taking home gold in BMX Freestyle Park and Dirt competitions. Jamie Bestwick extended his gold medal streak to seven, winning BMX Freestyle Vert by nine points. Bryce Hudson became the first rookie since Jeremy McGrath to win Moto X Step Up with a height of 31 feet.

Barcelona: Skateboard Vert veteran Bucky Lasek won his second consecutive gold medal after a nine-year hiatus from the top spot on the podium. Jamie Bestwick became the first athlete in X Games history to complete an eight-peat in BMX Freestyle Vert. With his fourth consecutive Skateboard Big Air gold, Bob Burnquist tied BMX athlete Dave Mirra for the most overall X Games medals with 24 each. In the same competition, Mitchie Brusco landed the first 1080 in Skateboard Big Air. Barcelona native Laia Sanz won her second consecutive Women’s Enduro X gold medal in front of a hometown crowd. At just 12 years old, Alana Smith became the youngest X Games medalist when she earned a silver medal in Women’s Skateboard Park.

Munich: Bucky Lasek and Bob Burnquist continued their domination, Lasek extending his streak to three, while Burnquist earned his fifth consecutive Skateboard Big Air medal and passed Dave Mirra for most X Games medals in history. In the first-ever Mountain Bike Slopestyle competition at X Games, Brett Rheeder took home the gold with his final run. In Moto X Speed & Style, Mike Mason once again edged out the competition with his arena-cross background, earning his third gold in his last three starts.

Los Angeles: Bucky Lasek became the only person at X Games to win all four 2013 gold medals in one discipline. In Moto X, Taka Higashino claimed gold for the third straight X Games Freestyle Moto competition, becoming the second person to win three competitions in a row. Vicki Golden became the first woman to compete in a freestyle Moto X event at X Games, winning bronze in the Best Whip competition. Nate Adams became the most decorated X Games Moto X rider of all time with 18 medals after winning the Speed & Style final. Elliot Sloan dethroned

X GAMES FACTS AND FEATS

Bob Burnquist in the Big Air finals earning the top spot on the podium joining Burnquist and Lasek as the only skaters to claim a medal on every X Games podium in 2013. Leticia Bufoni won her second straight X Games Skateboard Street gold medal. Tanner Foust captured the inaugural Gymkhana GRID event and brought his overall medal count to eight, making him the most decorated X Games Rally athlete. Nyjah Huston won his fourth X Games Street gold medal, tying him with Paul Rodriguez for the most in Men's Skateboard Street history—eight medals overall.

2014 X Games celebrates 20 years of events and heads to new host city in Austin, Texas, for the inaugural X Games Austin 2014 event. Maintaining his domination, Jamie Bestwick claimed his ninth consecutive BMX Vert gold medal. In Skateboard Vert, 20-year-old Jimmy Wilkins claimed the top spot, becoming the youngest gold medalist ever in that discipline. Tom Schaar won his first-ever X Games gold in the America's Navy Big Air competition, becoming the second youngest gold medalist in X Games history at age 14. Pedro Barros became the second athlete in X Games history to earn at least seven consecutive gold or silver medals in the same discipline after securing gold in Skateboard Park. Apdaly Lopez won the inaugural Stadium SUPER Trucks competition at just 19 years old and became the first male from Mexico to win gold at X Games. Nyjah Huston continued his domination in the Monster Energy Men's Skateboard Street finals, clinching his fifth Skateboard Street gold. X Games Austin 2014 also featured a world-class music lineup over three days at Circuit of The Americas. More than 40 musical performances took place over four stages, featuring artists Kanye West, The Flaming Lips, Gary Clark Jr. and many more.

2015 X Games celebrated its second year in Austin, Texas at the Circuit of The Americas (COTA), kicking off the 21st action-packed year with over 200 invited athletes across 20 disciplines.

The evening excitement began with the debut of Harley-Davidson Flat-Track Racing at COTA while the Moto X Step Up competition took place in downtown Austin in front of the Texas State Capitol. Bryan Smith won the first-ever Harley-Davidson Flat-Track Racing gold medal, while Ronnie Renner claimed his third Moto X Step Up win in row to become the first athlete since Tommy Clowers in 2002 to claim a three-peat in that discipline. Seven-time X Games medalist Vince Byron won his first BMX Vert gold, unseating nine-time BMX Vert gold medalist Jamie Bestwick, ending the longest winning streak in X Games history. Skateboard veteran Bob Burnquist took home gold in both America's Navy Skateboard Big Air as well as in the debut of Skateboard/BMX Big Air Doubles event with partner Morgan Wade for a total of 30 medals, the most in X Games history. Defending gold medalist Colton Satterfield made BMX history and earned his second GoPro BMX Big Air medal by landing the double flair on the quarterpipe – the first rider to do so on the Big Air ramp. Moto X Quarterpipe also made its debut at X Games Austin where France's Thomas Pagès won gold by throwing a bike flip on his second run. World-class musical performances took over the new Super Stage at COTA, bringing Nicki Minaj and Metallica to X Games. They were joined by performances in the Austin360 Amphitheatre featuring The Glitch Mob, Kid Ink, Joywave, Talib Kweli, Deltron 3030 and Pennywise.

2016 X Games wrapped up a three-year Austin run with an action-packed year. With the bar raised to a staggering height of 33 feet, the Moto X Step Up competition ended in a tie with Australian Jarryd McNeil and the Czech Republic's Libor Podmol clearing the mark. Michigan's Jared Mees broke away from the pack and edged out Kenny Coolbeth, Jr. for gold in the Harley-Davidson Flat-Track Racing final. English skater Sam Beckett took his first-ever X Games gold in Skateboard Vert, while BMX legend Jamie Bestwick walked away with his 13th gold in BMX Vert. Australian Josh Sheehan took gold in Coors Light Moto X Freestyle with an incredible double backflip on his final jump.

After six years of competing at X Games, Ryan Decenzo took home his first gold in Monster Energy Skateboard Street. Sixteen-year-old Pamela Rosa impressed judges enough to take home her second consecutive gold medal in Women's Skateboard Street. The Toyota BMX Park event was owned by Dennis Enarson, who, after five previous silver medals, added a gold to his collection. Kyle Baldock from the Gold Coast of Australia, took the golden pedal award in the inaugural Dave Mirra BMX Best Trick competition, with a massive 720 double tail whip, following an emotional tribute to the X Games legend. BMX action continued with seven-time gold medalist Garrett Reynolds adding another to the vault with a stellar performance in BMX Street. Popular musicians All Time Low and blink-182 rocked the crowd into the night at the Austin360 Amphitheater.

With inclement weather affecting the event all week, the America's Navy Skateboard Big Air and The Real Cost's BMX Big Air finals were cancelled, along with two nights of musical performances.

X GAMES FACTS AND FEATS

2017 After three years in Austin, competition moved north to Minneapolis and the state of the art U.S. Bank Stadium. Skateboard Vert saw its youngest-ever podium with 21-year-old Moto Shibata taking home gold in his second X Games appearance. The unstoppable Garrett Reynolds took home his ninth gold medal in BMX Street, followed by Aori Nishimura becoming the first female Japanese skateboarder to win gold at X Games when she dominated in Women's Skateboard Street. After previously taking bronze twice in BMX Big Air, James Foster took home gold.

X Games veteran Elliot Sloan was able to take home his first gold in Skateboard Big Air, bumping Big Air legend Bob Burnquist down to bronze. Burnquist followed the competition with an announcement of his retirement from X Games competition. Rookie Kelvin Hoefler came out of nowhere to win Men's Skateboard Street, upsetting defending champion Ryan Decenzo and seven-time winner Nyjah Huston. History was made as Brighton Zeuner became the youngest athlete ever to win an X Games medal, taking gold in Women's Skateboard Park on her 13th birthday.

Levi Sherwood took gold in both Moto X Freestyle and Moto X Best Trick, the only athlete at X Games Minneapolis to take home two golds. Colton Walker, an X Games rookie from just outside Minneapolis, took home BMX Dirt gold, with Kyle Baldock taking bronze and then, hours later, winning the golden pedal in Dave Mirra's BMX Park Best Trick. Alex Sorgente took home his first-ever gold after four previous invites in Men's Skateboard Park.

In the final event of the weekend, another X Games rookie, Colby Raha, took home gold at Moto X QuarterPipe High Air. In total, 110,000 fans attended the inaugural X Games Minneapolis, with performances from A Day to Remember, Atmosphere and Flume throughout the weekend.

2018 Returning to U.S. Bank Stadium for the second year, more than 119,000 fans attended the four-day action sports and music event. The event started with a thrilling come-from-behind win in the BMX Street competition where Chad Kerley regained gold by dethroning nine-time champ Garrett Reynolds on his final run. In Skateboard Street,

Nyjah Huston returned to the top of the podium for the eighth time, and first time since Oslo 2016. In Big Air, James Foster repeated his BMX Big Air gold medal win by landing the never-done-before quadruple downside tailwhip on the quarterpipe. With five scores in the 90's, the Loom BMX Dirt Finals was ultimately won by X Games rookie, Brandon Loupos. Then rookie Alex Hiam paid tribute to Dave Mirra by landing a trick never been done at X Games to take home the golden pedal. In BMX Park, Logan Martin finally won gold, after four silver medals in various BMX events the past two years. In Skateboard Park, Alex Sorgente and 14-year-old Brighton Zeuner defended their titles from last year.

The Harley-Davidson Flat-Track and Hooligan finals moved from last year's location at The Mall of America to inside U.S. Bank Stadium, with Jared Mees taking gold. Jarryd McNeil won two gold medals in one day, taking home Best Whip and Step Up wins. Tom Pages took home his first-ever gold in Freestyle and Jackson Strong reclaimed Best Trick gold for the first time since 2016.

In the inaugural X Games Sydney event, more than 52,000 fans attended the three-day event at Sydney's Spotless Stadium. The event began with a stunning BMX Street final, where Scottish rider Alex Donnachie upset perennial gold medal favorite Garrett Reynolds for his first X Games medal. BMX Dirt provided an equally thrilling final, with Polish rider Dawid Godziek surprising the crowd, throwing down a 90.33 to win gold on just the third overall run of the event. In Skateboard Street, X Games Minneapolis gold medalist Nyjah Huston defended his title, throwing down a winning run his first try and the Women's Skateboard Street competition saw a repeat of the X Games Minneapolis podium, with Mariah Duran, Leticia Bufoni and Aori

X GAMES FACTS AND FEATS

Nishimura all earning back-to-back medals. On the Moto side, Jarryd McNeil became the most-winningest Australian athlete in X Games history, winning his seventh gold in the Best Whip competition. Freestyle rider Tom Pages repeated his Minneapolis performance, earning gold in Freestyle and silver in Best Trick.

2019 X Games returned to Minneapolis for its third year, where top skateboard and BMX athletes took their talents to The Armory for Vert for the first time following its debut for music performances in 2018. Vince Byron earned his third consecutive gold in BMX Vert, while Jimmy Wilkins defended his in Skateboard Vert and added a third overall. Over on the dirt, up-and-coming Australian rider Corey Creed took his first X Games gold in Moto X QuarterPipe, and Rob Adelberg continued his streak to earn his eighth medal in nine Moto X competitions.

In the youngest field in X Games history, Women's Skateboard Park was won by 13-year-old X Games rookie, Misugu Okamoto, and silver medalist Cocona Hiraki also made history, becoming the youngest female X Games competitor and the youngest medalist in X Games history, male or female, at 10 years old.

Logan Martin took home two golds in BMX Park and BMX Dirt, becoming the third rider ever to do so at the same X Games. David Rinaldo dethroned the most successful Moto X Best Trick competitor in X Games history, Jackson Strong, and took his first X Games medal in Moto X Best Trick. History was made over on the mega ramp during Skateboard Big Air, where Elliot Sloan took back gold and Mitchie Brusco became the first skater ever to land a 1260 in competition. Yuto Horigome took his first gold medal at X Games in Men's Skateboard Street, while Garrett Reynolds took his 11th gold in BMX Street. After just missing the top spot in Men's Skateboard Street the day before, Nyjah Huston reportedly left the airport to come back and compete in Skateboard Street Best Trick, where he took gold. In the ultra-competitive Men's Skateboard Park, Italian Ivan Federico surprised all and took home gold, his first medal ever at X Games. Musicians at X Games Minneapolis 2019 included SWMRS, Chevy Metal, P.O.S and Wu-Tang Clan, all live from The Armory.

2020 Due to ongoing COVID-19 concerns, X Games Minneapolis 2020 - July 17 - 19 - was cancelled.

2021 X Games 2021 took place at Pat Casey's Dreamyard, Axell Hodge's Slayground and the CATF. The event was closed to the public. Beginning the week at the Dreamyard, host Pat Casey and Andy Buckworth earned their first X Games gold medals in the Dirt and Dirt Best Trick competitions. Over at Slayground, Moto X Freestyle rider Luc Ackerman earned his first X Games gold. Host Axell Hodge took home gold in the debut of Moto X 110s and Colby Raha set a new height record of 40'9" in QuarterPipe High Air.

The final competitions at the CATF were dominated by teenagers, with Next X Skateboard Park alum Liam Pace earning his first Skateboard Park gold, 13-year-old phenom Sky Brown winning her first Skateboard Park gold medal, 12-year-old Gui Khury besting surprise competitor Tony Hawk in Skateboard Vert Best Trick with the first-ever fakie 1080 landed in X Games competition for gold to become the youngest gold medalist in X Games history. On the Street course, Leticia Bufoni set the record for most gold medals in Women's Skateboard Street history with her fifth and Dashawn Jordan and Jamie Foy earned their first X Games gold medals in Street and Street Best Trick.

2022 The first X Games event in Japan, X Games Chiba 2022 took place at ZOZOMARINE Stadium in front of 40,000 fans. Jimmy Wilkins earned his fourth straight gold in Skateboard Vert, only the second athlete in X Games history to do so. BMX Flatland returned to X Games for the first time since 2003, with Japan's Kio Hayakawa taking gold. Japanese skaters swept the Women's Park podium with Olympic gold medalist Sakura Yosozuma leading the charge. In Men's Park, Jagger Eaton earned his first-ever X Games Park gold, as did Brazilian superstar Rayssa Leal in the Women's Skateboard Street competition. Japanese riders also swept the Men's Skateboard Street podium, with Tokyo's Yuto Horigome winning gold.
